Thanks for your quick response to my call for Information Systems Board and Working Group members. You have indeed fielded an all-star team. I am pleased that all the Directorates recognize the Agency's need for improved information systems management and have put forth their best.

Thanks also for including [ ] -- he will be a valuable player. Unless you have strong preferences otherwise, I would like OIS to be an advisory member, at least at first, in order to maintain a balance between information system users and suppliers.

My initial thinking on the Working Groups is that membership should be flexible, with players added or traded as issues or expertise warrants, and that the six groups will select their own additional members, chairpersons, and methods of operation. Each Board member will monitor at least one working group, and I hope to assign volunteers for that duty at the first Board meeting, now planned for the week of 27 June. My staff will contact your representatives directly to arrange specific times for the first Board and Working Group meetings.
